HIGH TIDE DID DAMAGE AT VENICE

$100,000 Property Loss—Nearby Beaches Did Not Suffer from Lashing Waves

STANDARD OIL CO. LOSES $300,000 IN PIER DAMAGE

Mischief Mostly Done Yesterday—No Heavy Damage from Waves Today

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27.—High tide passed this morning without a repetition of the heavy damages of yesterday along the west coast beaches. The absence of wind and ground swells was responsible for the lack of damage. Several houses at Venice that were endangered yesterday were moved by donkey engines during the night. Bulkheads were torn out yesterday, with further damage today. The total loss is estimated at $100,000.

There was no damage at Ocean Park, Santa Monica, Redondo Beach, or Hermosa Beach. The Standard Oil Company's $400,000 pier at El Segundo has been barred to pedestrians on account of the high waves dashing over it. The damage there was $300,000. Thousands of people from Los Angeles watched the waves during the morning.

FRIGID WEATHER FORECAST FOR 3 WEEKS

Fruit Growers Told by Weather Man to Prepare for Coldest Season of Year

Southern California's citrus region is about to embark upon a journey through its most frigid elements of the year, says the Los Angeles Tribune. This was the forecast made last night by Dr. Ford A. Carpenter, chief of the local weather bureau, who stated that the next three weeks mark the interval of the coldest weather the southland will experience this winter.

"There should be unceasing vigilance on the part of the growers during this short but decisive period." This is the warning he has sent broadcast to every one in the citrus belt who had invested in vegetation.

The prediction means that there will be especial activity by the ranchers and growers in preparing for the possible invasion by Jack Frost. Coming, as it is expected, directly in the wake of the beneficent drenching of the past few days, the warning of frost has caused no end of consternation among the men in the country. Snudge pots were taken out of their places of storage in last winter and stationed in orchards and crop lands, and watchmen prepared for the early morning vigil that probably will continue until the weather bureau gives assurance that the danger has passed. All the profit gained from the rain by the soil would go for naught, should the frost get possession of the fields, so the ranchers are bending every effort to ward it off.

The storm clouds, according to the weather bureau, have disappeared indefinitely and are travelling eastward, so that no more rain may be expected for several weeks.

STUPENDOUS CHRISTMAS MAIL SENT FROM CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—Chicago's Christmas mail was stupendous, according to figures given out at the postoffice yesterday.

December 19 to 24, inclusive, residents of this city sent out 2,500,000 parcel post packages, and 2,000,000 Christmas cards. In the first-class outgoing mail Thursday there were 3,518,000 pieces. This is an increase of 33 per cent over the corresponding day last year.

WILL LOSE RIGHT ARM THROUGH SELFISHNESS

ALAMEDA, Cal., Dec. 27.—His own gun being unloaded, Herbert Moore, aged 20, seized the gun of his companion, Louis Cox, aged 17, as a duck approached a blind in which both squatted. While struggling for possession of the gun, the weapon was discharged and Moore was shot through the right arm, which probably must be amputated.

Mrs. Buffum, Indicted For Poisoning Husband

BUFFALO, Dec. 27.—Mrs. Willis Buffum has been indicted on the charge of poisoning her husband, who died recently under such circumstances that the police made an investigation. He is believed to have been given arsenic in a horse liniment mixed with his food for several days.

The police are also investigating the death of one of Mrs. Buffum's children and the sickness of several others. When she was arrested she was taken to the bedside of a dying daughter, and if she had tried to kill the child she had evidently regretted it, for she broke down.

The motive in the poisoning of the husband, the police believe was the woman's love for the brother of her sister-in-law, a man of twenty-five years. Mrs. Buffum is thirty-eight.

PARCEL POST WAS HOLIDAY SUCCESS

Postmaster-General Declares System Will Be Pushed to Limit of the Law

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The parcel post has proved a complete success by the manner in which it handled the enormous Christmas business. When asked regarding the reported big financial losses sustained by the express companies through the falling off of holiday business, Assistant Postmaster General Roper said:

"This department is purely executive. We are going to extend the parcel post system to the full limit of the law, regardless of how it affects the express business. We have no information of the express business for the Christmas holidays, but feel convinced that the postoffice department has made an unequalled success of the parcel post."

Approximately 37,000 emergency men were employed by the department to work the holiday mails. The railway mail service, usually operated by 18,000 men, was increased to 32,000 and the clerical force was increased from 65,000 to 88,000.

STORM RAGED ON REGISTER ATLANTIC COAST AFTER FIRST OF YEAR

Furious Gale and Rain in Storm Belt; Two Men Drown; Crews of Two Barges Lost

MILLION DOLLARS LOST IN PROPERTY DAMAGES

Bulkheads Smashed by Waves—Snow Storms Prevailed in Pennsylvania

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Two men drowned in the East River and ten men—the crews of two barges, wrecked on the New Jersey coast—given up as lost, is the cost in human lives of the storm which swept over this region yesterday.

At Seabright, N. J., a fashionable summer resort thirty miles south of here, most of the houses have either been wrecked or are under water. Several hotels and many fine residences were among those undermined and badly damaged. Seventy families are homeless.

The damage done to property is estimated at $1,000,000, most of it borne by Seabright and other points along the northern section of the New Jersey coast. Most of the damage was due to bulkheads giving away under the onslaught of waves lashed into fury by a gale which at one time reached a velocity of ninety miles an hour.

A car float ran amuck in the East River, sinking eight motorboats, and the Erie station at Jersey City was flooded.

A driving rain in the storm belt gave way to snow for a time in the afternoon.

Clerk Getting Things in Shape for Starting the Big Job

PARTY AFFILIATION IS TO PUZZLE SOME

Seventy-four Precincts Instead of Fifty-nine Will Be in Use

With the first of the year County Clerk W. E. Williams will take registrations for the new Great Register. He already has things ship-shape for the beginning of the big job, for it certainly is a big job. In the basement beneath his office the clerk has shelves and a filing case and with them he follows a system that keeps the affidavits straight according to precincts.

Williams has had new registration blanks printed in accordance with the election laws passed by the legislature, and by Jan. 1 a number of registration deputies will be ready to take affidavits. Yesterday George E. Robinson of Santa Ana, the veteran registration clerk, secured a supply of books, and with the first of the new year he will be ready to do his share in making up the big collection.

At the last general election, the vote in the county showed numerous precincts that needed subdivision, and a month ago the Board of Supervisors split up a number of precincts and raised the number in the county from fifty-nine to seventy-four. Santa Ana has fifteen instead of ten, Anaheim, Fullerton, Huntington Beach and Newport Beach have at least one additional precinct each. A new precinct was created at Yorba Linda and a new one at Cypress.

Under the law, a new register is required every two years, which means that all citizens must register again, but the present registration, while theoretically cancelled January 1, is good for all special municipal or school elections up to the primary election in September.

A number of voters who have discussed the political situation have declared their intention of waiting for some time before registering, the reason given being that they are not yet certain of their party affiliation. Others say they will register as "declines to state" and later change to some party affiliation, if they make up their minds where they belong.

These are exceptional cases, however, as the large majority of voters will not hesitate a minute about registering upon the ground of uncertainty as to what party they belong. Unquestionably there are many who have not made up their minds as to whether they are Republicans or Progressives. Progressives who have talked the matter over say that they expect the Progressives to register as such gladly, as in general the move made by the party in this state to separate itself from the Republican party is considered a good move.

Party affiliation cuts no figure in county and township nominations, as the new state law provides for non-partisan selection of nominees. For state offices, those who register as affiliated with any one of the parties will vote upon state nominees for that party only.

MOYER IS RUN OUT OF HANCOCK, MICHIGAN

Citizens Alliance Formed to Keep Order in Strike Region, Beats and Shoots Miners' Federation Head

MOYER TELLS STARTLING STORY IN MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 27.—Suffering from two bullet wounds, in the shoulders and one in the head, President Charles H. Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners, who was run out of Hancock, Michigan, last night, arrived here today. He declared he would return to Hancock at once "under government protection," despite threats to kill him if he again appeared there. He declared he was attacked after an interview with fifteen men led by an attorney named Federman, who represents the Calumet and Hecla mine owners. His injuries are painful but not dangerous unless complications set in.

Moyer declared he was frightfully beaten and subjected to indignities of the grossest sort at the hands of the Citizens' Alliance, which was formed for the avowed purpose of maintaining order in the copper mining country during the miners' strike.

"Hell is about to pop in the copper country," Moyer said as he stepped from the train. "The miners are thirsting for revenge but I hope to return in time to prevent them from doing anything to injure their cause."

Regarding the attack he said: "I was attacked within a few minutes after the committee of fifteen left me. In fact the committee had hardly gone before gunmen appeared with members of the Citizens' Alliance. I was doing my best to settle the strike and the governor and the attorney general acknowledged this. The terms I submitted to the mine owners were fair. They admitted that I had kept faith with all of the state officials and local authorities. The assault was unjustifiable."

"Organizer Tanner and I were in our room at the hotel," Moyer said, "when Sheriff Cruise called. He demanded that we accept for the Federation funds raised by the Citizens' Alliance for the families of the victims of the Christmas horror at Red Jacket. I replied that the strikers themselves had raised $6000 and that this was sufficient. Cruise left and in five minutes later mine whistles blew as if at a prearranged signal. Members of the Citizens' Alliance then entered the rooms. About one hundred and fifty of them. We were seized and held by some, while others danced in front, striking us frequently in the face and kicking our bodies. Finally some one stepped behind me and shot me. I fainted when the first bullet entered my back. I do not remember the other two. When I recovered we were being passed down stairs from one man to another. As they passed us along each man struck us. Between

CAR BANDIT SENTENCED TO HANG

Judgment Secured Quickly Against John Bostick, Murderer

DEATH WITHIN THE NEXT NINETY DAYS

He Pleads Guilty and Silently Takes Order for Extreme Penalty

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27.—John Bostick pleaded guilty to the murder of Traveling Passenger Agent Horace Montague on the Southern Pacific Sunset Express, which he held up at El Monte on December 2, and he was immediately sentenced to be hanged.

Bostick wept silently as the words fell from Judge Craig's lips. He did not utter a sound, but shook his head when asked if he wished to speak.

The case established a record for quick justice here.

He was arraigned in Justice Young's court, followed by a preliminary hearing, at which he was held to the superior court for trial. He pleaded guilty in the superior court and was sentenced within fifteen minutes. Judge Craig said that Bostick must be taken to San Quentin within ten days and hanged within ninety days.

ORNAMENTAL LIGHTS SOON

Anaheim Committee Thinks the Plan Will Work Out
Favorably

ANAHEIM, Dec. 27.—The installation of ornamental lighting posts throughout the business section is assured according to John Zeigler and J. P. Ahlborn, committee in charge of the movement. A petition has been circulated among the property owners and in every instance the proposition has been met with favor. The posts are to be installed on Center street between the east line on Emily street and the west line of Lemon street, and on Los Angeles street between the north line of Chatterbox street and the south line of Broadway.

The property owners have agreed to aid in the erection of the posts at the assessed rate of $1 per front foot, and the offer is made with the understanding that all wooden poles used for the transmission of power, electric and telephone lines be removed and an underground system of wiring used. This proposition is one of many that will be adopted by the progressive citizens who are active in making Anaheim a "City Beautiful."

During the absence of the family, the residence of Mrs. C. H. Richardson, on the corner of Broadway and Claudia streets, was entered by a burglar. When the family returned last evening they found the back door open and the house in disorder. It was evident that the thief left hastily, as he had discarded an old coat and donned a suit of clothes belonging to Mrs. Richardson's son-in-law, Earl Abbey, and neglected to carry away the plunder, consisting of silver and jewelry, he had gathered from the ransacked home.

Captain Alfred Brown.
Who Swam Panama Canal

Captain Alfred Brown, the first swimmer to go the whole length of the Panama Canal, came back to the United States today. He said that during the time he was in the water he was caught again and again in swift currents and whirlpools made by the water flowing from the locks on the Atlantic side, and once his legs became entangled in the branches of a submerged tree in Gatun Lake, and for a moment he thought he had been seized by an octopus.

Captain Brown said that the arrangements for swimming the canal were made possible by the kindness of Colonel Goethals, in charge of the zone.

It was on the morning of Nov. 23 when the captain entered the water of Colon Harbor. The locks were filled and opened for him, and he swam through, followed by a motorboat carrying attendants. On the first day he swam twenty-four miles through the locks and Culebra Cut, and starting again at 5 o'clock on the morning of the 24th, he swam from Gamboa to Balboa on the Pacific.

He was in the water twenty-four hours and forty-five minutes, and covered forty-one miles—twenty-four the first day and seventeen the second day.

The excessive heat was the hardest thing to combat, and despite the head shield the swimmer wore, the captain said, the sun's rays were almost unbearable.

Captain Brown said that he encountered snakes in the lake, and saw odd-looking little animals drop from the branches of some trees, the tops of which were yet out of water.

GOV. COX CLAIMS OHIO TO BE MOST PROGRESSIVE OF STATES

Declares That More Real Progressive
Exists on Statute Books of State
Than in any other

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 27.—Claiming that Ohio has on its statute books more real progressive legislation, recently enacted, than any other state of the Union, Governor James M. Cox today outlined through the United Press, in the following article, the program which Ohio's legislature has put through:

BY GOV. JAMES M. COX, OF OHIO
(Written for the United Press.)
Upon Ohio's statute books are written fifty-six of the most progressive laws in the nation, evolved from fifty-six campaign pledges to the people of Ohio before the last election. Thanks to a body of men composing Ohio's general assembly, so patriotic in spirit that to oppose the right of the people would be treason, Ohio is enabled today to call herself among the foremost of the states enjoying the freedom of the people's prerogatives. I am grateful for this opportunity to tell the people of the nation what Ohio has already done in the past eventful twelvemonth. Briefly:

The Warnes tax law takes taxation out of politics, creates uniformity and will bring to light every dollar of taxable property in Ohio. It provides an appointive taxing official in every county. Local political bickerings, influences and obligations are effectively eliminated.

The mother's pension law levies a pittance of tax on the comfortable for the benefit of the needy—the mothers and their dependents. It will save many families from want in every one of Ohio's 88 counties the first year. The second year we estimate it will increase in effectiveness fifty per cent.

Ohio's compulsory workmen's compensation law is a step in advance over all of them. It provides a system of claim investigation that defies fraud. It gives both workman and employer a square deal at a negligible cost to each, and clears away masses of costly court litigation. Its compulsory feature affords every workman his benefit and insures protection to his dependents.

The new liquor license act eliminated 3300 dives and joints. It put out of business all of the wineromms so frequently patronized by young girls and women, and is a step toward higher morals, less debauchery, white slavery and common evils emanating from the influence of liquor. It brings to light of day a business that has thrived in the dark. It absolutely eliminates objectionable liquor traffic and limits the trade to one saloon for every five hundred of population in counties now known as "wet."

The state banking department, abolishes the shady operations of illegitimate land sharks, wild cat speculations and fake banking institutions. It places sole control in the right place.

Boys under 16 and girls under 18 are barred from health racking employments, an evil so common in most states, by Ohio's newly enacted child labor law.

Ohio today has a general code of good road laws. Most important is the Hites law, providing for a half mill levy in every county to be used in the construction of 12 main market roads and a system of interconnecting roads connecting every section with a fine paved highway. A sum of eight hundred thousand dollars is now in the state treasury waiting to be spent. It provides for the raising of $3,500,000 annually for ten years, it will free Ohio from mudholes and provide highways that will reduce the cost of transportation of farm products.

The housewife's market basket is now protected by an act prohibiting combinations to fix prices and providing that violators shall be fined and sent to the state penitentiary. There is also now no loophole for the dealer who uses short measures.

The state has appropriated ample funds to fight the great white slave plague. It has in addition considered the general health precautions more amply than ever before. Upon Ohio's statute books were also placed during the past year, laws granting municipalities the option of home rule in any practical form; creating an efficient industrial commission; eliminating politics through the civil service; adjusting and simplifying court procedure; adequate flood protection; providing for a thorough investigation of farm credits; giving the state board of charities general supervision of the care of all dependent, neglected and delinquent children; creating a state penitentiary open air farm to be constructed and worked by convicts; establishing elementary day school for uneducated prisoners in Ohio's penitentiary, fitting the illiterate with standing to resist evil when released and face the world with an even break; a drastic anti-lobby law and many more.

The greatest object of my administration will have been accomplished when the legislature this winter adopts a progressive school system endorsed by prominent educators all over the state and lay delegates from every school district, no matter how small. It will provide adequate, thorough and efficient supervision of every school in Ohio and a high standard will be required of every teacher, old and young.

HIGH PRAISE GIVEN COUNTY'S LECTURER BY AN INDIANA MAN

A letter received today from a Gary, Ind., man gives an idea of the effective work being done by D. W. McDannald, Orange county's representative at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. McDannald went to the Chicago Land Show and lectured on Orange county. Booklets entitled "Spring Eternal," descriptive of Orange county, were distributed. The letter received today says:

"Gentlemen:—While in Chicago with an exhibit from my country, I had the pleasure of listening to a lecture by your Mr. McDannald on Orange County. Sitting in my office here today and while the snow was blowing and drifting outside, I happened to run across 'Spring Eternal,' which I had picked up at the California booth, and as I read it I thought again of the able lecture I had listened to, and I wish to say that your honorable board is to be congratulated on having so able a representative. He certainly had us all thinking seriously of a home, at least for our old age, in Orange county. I am coming down next fall myself to look you over.

"Trusting Mr. McDannald returned home safely and that he may be spared for service a long time, I am

OUR PEATLANDS

In an article elsewhere in this paper on "Atmospheric Nitrogen for the Orchard," experiments are recited which indicate that peat is to play a prominent part in the future "fixation" of atmospheric nitrogen. This of course suggests the thought that the peatlands of Orange county may some day prove a godsend to the orange growers of Southern California.

THE MEXICAN SITUATION

There seems to be little doubt but that Huerta is not a cause, but a symptom of the Mexican incapacity for self-government. If he should fall and his government fall, the next government would repeat all his barbarities, and continue his misgovernment. President Wilson had to let the world see it. Huerta had to be given plenty of time and every opportunity to prove how bad he was; and the men against him had to be given every opportunity to show themselves worse, if possible. In a few more months civilization may come to realize thoroughly how miserably the Mexicans fall when they try self-government. Then it will be time to formulate a policy which carries with it the element of the civilized world—perhaps the co-operation of all the great civilized powers. Mexico cannot govern herself until an economic policy has made life easier. The outlook upon life broader, the philosophy of life wider for the average Mexican, and that policy cannot be realized under the dictatorship of men like Huerta. They merely extend the tenure of legalized anarchy. And there is no evolution in anarchy. It will take a generation of wise statesmanship to bring Mexico to the place where she can begin to work out her political and economic salvation.—California Outlook.

BETTER PAY THE TAX

One of the most shortsighted policies ever precipitated by ill-considered self-interest is the injunction still brought by the Automobile Club of Southern California against the motor vehicle act, under which the cost of the maintenance of the state roads will be met by fees on automobiles. The state of California is spending $15,000,000 for the building of through roads, located where they will be used almost exclusively by automobiles. Only a small part of the people own automobiles, but all the people are taxed to provide these roads. This inequality is sought to be balanced by a tax assessing the whole cost of maintaining the roads on the automobile. Instead of the present registration fee of $3 a year, the new fee is from $5 to $30 a year. The money goes, half to the road fund of the counties, and the other half to the maintenance fund of the state highway. No fairer or less burdensome tax could have been devised. It is one of the few taxes which will cost nobody anything. Every automobile owner will save more money in tire expenses by virtue of these roads than he will be charged in taxes to maintain them.

To be sure, these automobiles are also taxed locally as property. Theoretically this may be a double tax, but inasmuch as a considerable part of this tax also goes into the road fund, the portion which is theoretically double taxation, is not practically important enough to make an issue of. If the automobile clubs desire they can present to the next legislature a proposal to be exempt from this remnant. But in the meantime there is no other fund for the maintenance of the state highway. If the automobile clubs tie up this fund by proceedings in court, no money can be spent on the maintenance of the highways. The injury may be irreparable before the legislature can meet. No one would be hurt by this so much as the automobilists. These highways now under construction are only a beginning. The state needs much more and the initiative in promoting further construction will naturally come from the automobile people. If by checking their just dues, or even by disputing what might be a just dues during an interval in which nothing else can be provided in its place, the automobilists manifest a disposition to insist that they shall only receive what others give, their usefulness in the agitation for good roads is at an end.

The automobile people of the state ought to take steps to frown so sternly on this action of the Southern California Automobile Club that this suit will be withdrawn unconditionally.—California Outlook.

THE CITRUS FRUIT INDUSTRY

Department of Service to Citrus Fruit Growers, Conducted Especially for the Register.

ATMOSPHERIC NITROGEN FOR THE ORCHARD

While citrus trees are heavy, even voracious, feeders, they yet respond freely to liberal feeding and good care. The cost, however, of supplying the large amount of plant food they require for their best growth and production is becoming a more and more important economic problem, from the high and increasing cost of the necessary plant food required. Of these plant foods, or natural ingredients, nitrogen is by far the most important and costly; and on the presence and character of the nitrogen it contains the fertility of a soil largely depends. Any discovery, then, tending to decrease the cost or to increase the available supply of this most important plant food means much to the California citrus fruit grower, even as it does to all engaged in horticultural or agricultural pursuits the world over.

It has been estimated that there are 75,000,000 pounds of atmospheric nitrogen above every acre of land on the earth's surface. An acre of soil one foot deep will weigh about 180,000 or 200,000 pounds. In his "Manures and Manuring" Alkman states that "As a general rule most arable soils contain over one-tenth of one per cent of nitrogen, or say, over 3500 pounds per acre." As a general rule the nitrogen content of the subsoil is less than that of the surface soil. The recently issued bulletin of "Commercial Fertilizers," from the University of California, places the approximate value of nitrogen in the market at from 10c per pound of nitrogen of lime and nitrate of soda, up to 25c per pound from tankage and bone. The value then of the atmospheric nitrogen above every acre of land approximates at least $350,000, and the fixation of this atmospheric nitrogen in quantities sufficient for plant life is a most important problem, as can readily be seen.

While obtained and sold commercially (as nitrate of lime), the process of manufacture or "fixation" from the atmosphere is a costly one, and any discovery which may enable the farmer successfully to "fix" his own supplies of nitrogen where needed in the soil, is of world wide importance.

Nature, by means of the nitrogen fixing bacteria in the soil, is continually drawing upon this supply. Since the discovery of these organisms, or nitrifying bacteria, in the soil many attempts have been made to increase their activity and the quantity of the nitrogen they gather over a given area of land; but much still remains to be learned as to their exact methods of operation, and of the conditions best adapted to their greatest activity. The discovery, by Friedrich and Wilfarth, of the relationship between leguminous plants and the "module" bacteria found on their roots; and the practical application of the discovery, by Nodder and Hiltner, by means of soil and seed inoculation, raised hopes at one time that the problem of nitrogenous manuring had been solved; which hopes, however, have failed of full realization.

The remarkable discoveries recently made by Professor W. B. Bottomley of Kings College, London, of a medium which, when saturated with the nitrogen fixing bacteria and added to the ordinary soil, brings about nitrogen fixation in a remarkable way, promises to prove of the utmost importance to all who use nitrogenous plant food at all extensively.

In a recent article Professor Bottomley describes his discovery as follows:

"This medium is obtained by treating peat with certain aerobic soil bacteria which break down the peat, convert the insoluble 'humic acid' into soluble 'humates,' and change the acid peat into a neutral mass. The humate forming organisms, having done their work, are killed off by sterilization. Then this medium is inoculated with a mixed culture of nitrogen fixing bacteria, and after a few days incubation is ready for use. When ordinary soil is mixed with this inoculated peat, there is a marked increase in the nitrogen content of the soil if the temperature be suitable for the growth of the bacteria. A mixture of 9 ounces of soil from Rothamstead, and 1 ounce of inoculated peat incubated at 26 degrees centigrade for twenty-eight days, gave an increase of 54 milligrams of nitrogen per 100 grammes of soil—equivalent to a dressing of 28 hundredweight of nitrate of soda per acre if the increase had been proportional throughout an acre of soil three inches deep. In addition to its value as a medium for the growth of nitrogen fixing bacteria, the inoculated peat possesses remarkable manuring properties. Experiments conducted at Kew gardens, Chelsea Physic Gardens, Eton School Gardens, and elsewhere, have demonstrated that the application of the prepared peat to soil, either mixed with the soil or applied as a top dressing, has a very marked effect on the growth and development of plants. At Kew Gardens the treated plants, after eight weeks growth, were in many instances three or four times the size of those grown in ordinary loam or leaf mold, although at the outset they were as equal in size and constitution as could be selected. At Chelsea Physic Gardens a bed of radishes watered once with an extract of the bacterized peat gave an increase of 54 per cent over an untreated bed. At Eton School Gardens, plots in the open, some manured with prepared peat at the rate of 1 1/2 tons per acre, and others with farmyard manure at the rate of 80 tons per acre, showed a yield by weight in favor of the peat—potatoes, 41 per cent; turnips, 25 per cent, and onions, 38 per cent. Much work has yet to be done, and numerous experiments are being carried out before the exact action of the bacterized peat on soil bacteria and plant growth can be thoroughly understood, but so far as investigations have gone at present, the advantages obtained by using the materials are: 1. It adds active nitrogen-fixing organisms to the soil under suitable conditions for nitrifying. 2. It stimulates the activities of the nitrogen-fixers already in the soil. 3. It adds direct plant food to the soil, a large amount of the organic vegetable matter of the peat being rendered soluble in the processes of treatment. 4. It directly promotes the root development of plants. 5. It improves the mechanical condition of the soil."

Professor Bottomley's experiments and research have covered a period of six years in the Botanical Laboratories of Kings College, London, and elsewhere. The discovery of this suitable medium promises to prove of great value to California citrus fruit growers, for here soil conditions are essentially favorable for the growth of the bacteria; and provided the prepared peat can be produced on a reasonable commercial basis we have here a most important addition to our supply of soil nitrogen. Peat is being advocated in some cases as a source of humus for soils. The addition of the peat in this prepared state in sufficient quantities to not only maintain the humus supply but to also increase the nitrogen fixing bacteria would solve some of the most important problems now facing our growers.

Millions of Dollars
Come in Every Year

The Los Angeles Examiner's anniversary number had the following concerning Orange county:

With from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 pouring into Orange county every year from its products, its farmers are in a very prosperous condition. Few farms there are here where the luxury and convenience of an automobile are not known.

The cash receipts from the sale of the various products of the county are expected to open the eyes of thousands of tourists who will come to the Coast during the coming year, and to interest them in this small but important county. For the inhabitants of all climes will find this locality adapted to the culture of the products of their homes. Diversity of products here is limited only to the catalogue of horticultural and agricultural products.

There are still many large ranches suitable for subdivision, the owners of which are only awaiting the proper time to cut them up into smaller tracts.

Oil heads the list of revenue producers in Orange county, with 10,000,000 barrels annually. This has a total value of $7,000,000. Beets and beet su-

Far come next. There are five factories in the county, and they manufacture $3,500,000 worth of beets into $5,000,000 worth of sugar. Oranges and lemons help swell the total in the tidy sum of about $2,700,000.

Orange county produces about forty per cent of the English walnuts of the world, returning the growers close to $1,500,000. Lima and black-eye beans are grown to the value of nearly $2,000,000.

The revenue of Orange county products is as follows: Cereals and hay total $1,127,174; fruits and nuts, $4,602,922; vegetables, $6,864,955; crude oil, $7,000,000; miscellaneous, including poultry, eggs, honey, wines, butter, etc., $6,739,811, making a total of $26,334,862.

The assessed valuation for 1913 of property in the county, less operative property, is $42,800,000, which is about $1,500,000 more than it was for 1912.

Orange county recently voted $1,270,000 for improved county highways. Bonds for County Poor Farm and Hospital were voted later. Building of good roads is now in progress, contracts for four or five sections having already been let, and preparations are being made for letting contracts on other sections.

When the bonds were called for, the County Highway Commission estimated the amount needed on 107 miles. Conditions have been so favorable that the contracts have been taken for a little over one-half the commission's estimated cost per mile. As a result, when the 107 miles have been completed the commission will have a nice little fund on hand, and many more miles will be added to the total.

Stomach Troubles Disappear
Stomach, liver and kidney troubles, weak nerves, lame back and female ills disappear when Electric Bitters are used. Thousands of women would not be without a bottle in their home. Eliza Pool of Dewey, Okla., writes: "Electric Bitters raised me from a bed of sickness and suffering and has done me a world of good. I wish every suffering woman could use this excellent remedy and find out, as I did, just how good it is." As it has helped thousands of others, it surely will have a nice little fund on hand, and many more miles will be added to the total.

—Sleep-disturbing bladder weakness, stiffness in joints, weak inactive kidney action and rheumatic pains, are all evidence of kidney trouble. Mrs. Mary A. Dean, 47 E. LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

There was an excellent buying demand on the markets yesterday morning. Prices were firm all through the list of vegetables and fruits, and had it not been for heavy arrivals of staples over Christmas, several advances might possibly have been recorded there. The egg market was steady, despite the fact that 246 cases were received. This was due principally to the fact that in San Francisco the market advanced to 46 cents a dozen, a jump of 3 cents over the price previous to the holiday. The demand was good, and there was considerable sale of eggs.
The market on butter here was firm, because the northern market went to 32 cents. Receipts were 42,050 pounds, and should remain as heavy for several days in succession, the market would drop lower than the present 30-cent level.
The spud market slumped slightly under the deluge of 7270 sacks of potatoes. This large shipment came through the fact that for about a week the arrivals were light enough to allow of a clean-up on standing stock, and traders at once put in big buying orders, with the result that spuds are arriving in bunches.

AT THE COURT HOUSE
CHINAMAN IS SUING A JAP
Queued Individual Says Little
Brown Man Heap Sabe
How Ketch'um

If Bret Harte were alive and could hear the story of Dak Lee the word of that classic in which it is said that for ways that are dark and tricks that are vain the heathen Chinese is peculiar. Dak Lee is ready to prove in court that for ways that are dark a jolly Jap named S. Tanaka has it all over any Chinese who prepared hash in Bret Harte's time or sprinkled spray from his mouth.

Dak Lee lives at Anaheim, and he says Tanaka is a rancher southwest of Santa Ana.

One day Tanaka he come along and make heap lots how, and smile often. He very rich man. He talks heap nice to Dak Lee. He say he needs some money rick quick. Will Dak Lee cash'um check?

"Sure, I cash'um," says Dak Lee, and he proceeds to cash'um. Tanaka makes more heaps lots how and smiles, and he puts $485 in his pockets.

"Him verry good fend," thinks Dak Lee when he goes to the bank. "Him nice Jap man."

The check went through the banks to a Santa Ana bank, and there it was given a mark that sent it back to the Anaheim bank. Dak Lee was called in.

"What the malla?" Dak Lee wants to know right quick. "No ketch'um money in the bank. What the malla that Jap man?"

It was an excited Chinaman who took his troubles to Attorney W. C. Spencer, and Spencer promised to proceed to get the money back.

"He heap sabe bad Jap," says Dak Lee. "He make 'um dig up."

Spencer decided to proceed with a civil suit, though under the law Tanaka could have been arrested on a felony charge. That is the reason there is an action brought here by a Chinaman against a Jap. Dak Lee is the plaintiff and S. Tanaka the defendant. Dak Lee like heap good to see $485.

Calls it Forgery
An answer was filed today by Attorney H. C. Head for Mrs. Mary J. Neill, who is a defendant in an action on a $700 note brought by L. P. Hendrickson against E. McKinsey and Mrs. Neill. The answer declares that the signature is a forgery, and declares that no one was ever authorized to sign Mrs. Neill's name to the note. This is one of several notes that turned up after McKinsey skipped from the country. To these notes the name of Mrs. Neill appears as surety, and Mrs. Neill declares the signatures are forgeries.

On Habeas Corpus
Attorney B. E. Tarver has started habeas corpus proceedings with a view to freeing V. J. Atencio of a charge of issuing a $500 check on a bank when he had not sufficient funds at the bank to meet the check. Sheriff Ruddock is instructed to have Atencio in court at 2 o'clock next Monday. Tarver asks that Atencio be turned loose on the ground of failure of the preliminary examination to show cause why Atencio should be held to answer. The affidavit filed in the case states that the evidence showed that the check was given Thayer, Hickey & Thompson on a bill, with the statement that there was not money in the bank to meet it and with instructions to hold the check. It is alleged that there was no evidence to show an attempt to defraud, and that neither goods nor coin were received in exchange for the check.

Receiver Named
The Orange County Savings & Trust Company has been appointed receiver to settle the partnership affairs of Jesse Jacobs and J. S. Gordon. The two men were partners in buying and fattening cattle. They disagreed and Jacobs with Clyde Bishop as attorney brought suit to settle their affairs. Keech & Davis represented the defendant, and by stipulation of attorneys the bank was put in charge of the property, consisting of 188 head of cattle.

The scope of this four-factory co-operative policy and its efficiency is shown day in and day out by the acknowledged position of United States Tires in the Western automobile world.

The world's largest rubber company stands back of these famous tires.

Retained by this enormous manufacturing organization are men whose reputations are international and whose skill and genius, used in conjunction with the four-factory co-operative methods, have made United States Tires the standard for mileage—tire economy and real tire satisfaction.

The overwhelming number of automobile manufacturers who have selected United States Tires as the standard equipment of their 1914 cars proves unquestionably that United States Tires are today the accepted standard for real tire service.

Lewis Chamberlain, of Manchester, Ohio, writes about his children: "Sometimes in severe attacks we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup, coughs and colds." So can you. 50c and $1.00. A bottle should be in every home. At all druggists. H. E. Becklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis. Advertisement.
